I've just got few emails from Arbitrage Conspiracy buyers that they were declined by CPA Network. While browsing few forums [including warriorforum] I've seen that many buyers of Arbitrage Conspiracy as well as people who are willing to try their hand with CPA are getting declined by CPA network.

Why?

Because CPA networks don't want few newbies messing their network with garbage traffic , false sign up and spreading rumor all over Internet that this and that CPA network is worthless and I could not make a red cent or they scrubbed my leads and they cheated me because I sent so many traffics yet I got no conversion etc etc...

CPA networks live on their reputation because better reputation it has more merchants it can attract. So they don't want newbies. They want big player who know what they are doing and sending quality traffic to offers.

Since you have bought Arbitrage Conspiracy or you are going to buy Arbitrage Conspiracy [obviously through my link here

<http://www.arbitrageconspiracy.com/index.php?ref=11a2e81e> ☺ ]

You are no longer a newbie , you are already a serious player who might be getting multi-million dollar CPA affiliate level [Oh! I know one woman who broke her backbone and thus lost her job took her CPA business to 4 million dollar a year net profit level within one and half years. She started her CPA business with $200 and all she did sponsored thread in related forums related to her CPA niche].

Now let me tell you some 'SECRET' of getting accepted by ANY cpa network even though you don't have any experience with CPA marketing.

You may be disappointed but at this point I encourage you to tell some lie as recommended.

Now The Game Starts: How To Get Accepted By Any CPA Network:-

If you want to get accepted to the network you will need to do the following:

1. Buy an "aged" domain, something that is at least 6 months old and do not use whois privacy. Your affiliate manager will do a whois on the domain and if you have privacy enabled that's an immediate red flag, it's stupid I know but that's how things are. Make sure it has your real name, real address, and real phone number and make sure they all match the information you put on the application. You can pickup these domains for less than $15 on digitalpoint and sometimes for even $1 at the $1 auctions at DNforum: <http://www.dnforum.com/f556/>

2. Setup a wordpress blog (don't use the default theme) about either a finance related website or something to do with health/weight loss. Just grab some PLR articles and start posting them, but modify the "posted date" so they don't know you just now set it up. Maybe include some adsense or some banners, even if they aren't yours, so that it looks like you already know about advertising and monetizing a website. If you don't have webhosting to set up your wordpress blog here you go Host Gator

3. Do not use a free email account such as @gmail, use the domain name that you signup with and use your first name. For example if your name was Micheal you would use Micheal@myfinancewebsite.com. You can easily do this in cpanel and then use something like outlook or thunderbird to read the emails, if you don't know how to do this in cpanel here is a video tutorial:

<http://www.2serveu.net/cpanel-tutorials/adde-mail.html> and here you will find tutorials on how to setup mail clients like outlook and thunderbird, or use cpanel's webmail <http://www.2serveu.net/support/email.htm> and of course in case you need it, more cpanel tutorials: <http://www.2serveu.net/support/cpanel-tutorial.htm>

4. Answer your phone, I don't get why some people are so afraid of talking to an affiliate manager. The guy/girl isn't going to bite your head off and you need to establish a relationship with them anyways because they can tell you which offers are currently converting for other affiliates and can handle any issues you might have in regards to payments in the future. If you don't answer your phone, you will get rejected by the network.

The reason affiliate managers have to call you up and question you is because there is a huge amount of fraud in the affiliate marketing industry, everything from 15 year old kids telling their friends to fill out offers, to sophisticated fraud rings from various countries.

You need to be ready to answer all those questions from the CPA company:

Q:How many uniques a month do you get?

A:50000-100000

Q:How do you get traffic?

A:I build blogs and webpages and I get traffic through PPC on google.

Q:How long have you been doing Internet Marketing?

A:1 year and a half

Q:What has worked for you in the past?

A:Only PPC

Q:What vertical/category/kind of offer you want to promote, or have promoted in the past?

A:Anything that converts, I've done gaming, freebies, health, ringtones, email submit, etc..

Q:Do you offer incentives?

A:NO

Q:How much do you spend on advertising?

A:100$ per day

Q:Do you work with other network, which ones?

A:YES, name any that you have been accepted at or name any random ones.

Q:How did you hear about us?

A:My friend told me

If you get denied because you could not pick up a call then Between 1PM-6PM (weekday) call all of them. You should have all their numbers in your email inbox. Don't get nervous with your language , accent [if you are not a native English speaker ☺ Like if I talk with you in English probably you will bang your head against a wall yet I got accepted by networks because of my confidence and attitude to do something anyhow].

One more thing while applying to CPA networks use real info. Real name , address , Tax ID , nationality and real phone number. Never ever try to fool them with bogus info.

That's it! Yet if you get declined by any CPA networks [which I recommends] let me know. I'll get you accepted. My AIM is Satyajithere , gtalk is smartsatyajit , email is admin@arbitrageconspiracyoffer.com
