One last thing before we begin.

You do not have reprint rights to this manual. You may not give this manual away. You paid for it, and only you should be reading it. You made a decision to step up and take charge of this area of your life. Don't devalue yourself by letting other people see what you paid for.

The only way you get value out of this information is if you invest in it, and if you respect it. Passing it onto others is a guaranteed way to make sure that these techniques won't work for you. Please don't compromise your integrity in any way. Karma is real. I've lived long enough to see it in action.

Okay, now let's get onto the secrets for making women have incredible orgasms.

The Orgasm On Command Technique

You're about to learn my most prized sexual technique ever. This is the one that my ex-girlfriends remember me by, and it's the reason they keep coming back and asking to sleep with me again... long after the relationship is over.

What you're about to learn is something not one man in ten thousand knows about. Once you master this technique, you will no longer be just an average man. You will possess the single ability that escapes most guys in this world... namely, the ability to make a woman orgasm uncontrollably almost every single time you have sex with her.

There are very few men in this world who can do this, and I'm one of them... and it's all thanks to this simple, but powerful technique that you're about to learn how to do. Don't let the size of this small report fool you. You only need a tiny nuclear bomb to do a lot of damage, and you only need a tiny amount of the RIGHT information to make a huge difference in your sex life.

Think about the woman in your life. If you don't have one right now, then think about the woman who you'd like to have in your life. Imagine the new way she'll perceive you when she experiences ultimate sexual pleasure as a result of being with you in bed.

This guide is your key to becoming the only man she knows who can set her off like a friggin BOMB in the bedroom!

In order for you to understand why this technique is so valuable, I want you to read an email that I recently sent out to my newsletter subscribers:

Dear Subscriber,

I just got the best compliment from one of my ex-girlfriends, and there's something important that you can learn from this.

You see, when I first created Makeout Mastery, my goal was to teach you practical tools that you can use with women that are so pleasurable... you will instantly set yourself apart from every other guy out there.

These are powerful make-out tools that I use on every date, and they work like CRAZY!

Anyway, back to my ex-girlfriend...

As of last week, I was seeing 3 women... but I had to let one go, because she was becoming too clingy (and I'm not looking for a relationship right now).

Well, that woman who I broke up with just sent me an email saying the following:

"I realize that it's over, but my body doesn't want it to be. Is there any chance that we can "be together" one last time? I'm literally craving you, and I can't stand it!!!"

The email said more than that, but that's the important part that I wanted to share with you (I wish I could get an email like that every day).

SIDENOTE: Yes, this was a real email that I really DID just get from her. I know it's hard to believe, but when you know how to make a woman feel REALLY good, she doesn't want to let you go.

If you'd like to have the ability to make any woman crave you like a drug, then you need to read every word of this short report. You see, this report isn't meant to be read like a novel. It's more like technical how-to guide. You will want to refer to this again and again.

Once you master this one, simple technique... you will be one of the few men in this world who can make a woman orgasm almost every single time you have sex.

I'm going to attempt to be as descriptive as possible when teaching you this technique, because I really want you to get it. So if it seems like I'm going into excessive detail at first, don't let that overwhelm you. You'll appreciate the level of detail later on, when you're looking to refine this technique a little more.

I don't have any live pictures or video to demonstrate this technique to you, but I do have some illustrations that I created especially for demonstrating the correct positioning. So please be patient, and follow along here. This description is going to be very detailed, but the technique, once you get the hang of it, is very simple. The images should make things a lot easier to understand.

Okay, let's dive in, and learn this awesome technique.

SIDENOTE: For the sake of being brief, I'm going to refer to the "Orgasm On Command" Technique as the "OOC Technique" for the rest of this manual.

A Little Background On The O.O.C Technique

I'm actually kind of proud to say this, but I didn't learn this technique from a porn video, or some sex book. It came from my own mind at the young age of 19 (at the time of this writing, I'm 29, so I've had ten years to practice and refine this little trick).

Back when I was 19, I was dating a cute little red head named Rachel. She was a tiny little thing who only weighed about 100 pounds soaking wet, but boy was she fun.

I kept trying to think of a better way to please her in bed when I had an idea. I realized that if I could overwhelm her with stimulation, she would almost be forced to have an orgasm.

I discovered that the best way to overwhelm a woman with pleasure is to stimulate more than one part of her body at the same time. I call this “Dual Stimulation”. The very first time I experimented with this technique, I knew I had discovered something really powerful. After only 30 seconds of “performing” the technique, she exploded from the inside out with the most powerful orgasm she had ever experienced in her life!

I knew I was onto something, and I verified it with literally dozens and dozens of women throughout my 20’s. I tried it with all kinds of women too. Women of all ages, shapes and sizes all had powerful, almost uncontrollable orgasms whenever I used this technique with them in the bedroom.

In other words... IT WORKS!

By the way, let me just give you an update about my ex-girlfriend, Rachel. She called me up not too long ago, and as we were talking, the conversation eventually turned to sex (as usual), but this time it was different. You see, she had finally found the man she would marry, and she became engaged. She began complaining about how “lousy” her fiancée was in bed. I have to admit, I felt sorry for her (and him too). Apparently she had been with this guy for over a year, and she never had one single orgasm while having sex with him. This was a serious problem for her, because when she was with me, she had one every single time we were together. EVERY time.

Then she asked me a question that made my jaw drop to the floor! She asked me if I’d be willing to create some kind of tutorial to teach her fiancée how to become a better lover. She said, “I wish I could show him how you did that thing with your hand... you know, that little trick that you used to do that made me orgasm so easily.”

Well, needless to say my ego was exploding for a few days after getting a compliment like that. Wouldn’t yours? When I finally came back to earth, I realized that she was right. Most guys really don’t understand how give a woman an over-the-top orgasm on a regular basis.

And what makes it worse... most guys don't even care to learn. I've tried to explain my special technique to a few of my friends, and they all gave me a blank stare. They didn't get it. I could tell that they had never given much thought to how satisfied their woman was in bed.

Morons.

It was then that I realized that most guys don't even know that this technique exists! I knew I had to create something to help Rachel out of her jam, and to help as many other guys as I could as well. This report is the final result. If there's one thing that I hope you're beginning to understand after reading these stories about ex-girlfriends, it's this. Most guys don't have a clue that a technique like this even exists, and so by reading this report and putting this technique into action, you're slingshotting yourself ahead of every guy you know... at least as far as the ladies are concerned.

You're welcome. Let's get started.

The Basics

Okay, before you practice this technique with your lady, you are going to need a couple things. First, you need some good water based lubricant. I personally recommend "I.D. Pleasure". I.D. Lube is the brand that makes it. Here's a picture of it, so you can be sure you get the one.

This is the stuff to get. It's the best there is.

I've tried a lot of other lubricants, and this one does the job better than any other one I've tested. It has a little bit of a menthol zing to it, which I don't really like, but trust me... once you use it a couple times, you won't even feel it anymore.

This is by far the best lubricant on the market, in my opinion. It can be a little hard to find, and you might have to order it online, but it's worth it. Buy two bottles, one large one, and one tiny one. You want the small bottle so you can take it with you when you go to your lady's house. Trust me on this... it's very handy to have a travel-sized version or to have a second bottle that you leave over her house.

I personally have one really large bottle, and two tiny, travel-sized bottles. I use the large bottle to refill the two smaller ones. One of the small ones is for my bedroom, and one is for when I'm going over to a woman's place. The reason I prefer to use the small bottle for my own place is because I always want it to look like it's new. I don't want a woman looking at my large bottle and thinking that I either:

A – Screw a LOT of women

Or

B – Jerk off way too much

If the bottle is always full, then she doesn't know how much lubricant you've used since you bought it, and that's a good thing. She doesn't need to know. I personally prefer to order this stuff online, because you actually save a lot of money by doing so. Here's the site I recommend that you get it:

<http://www.lubery.com>

You can also find water-based lubricant at any adult store. They have a couple different kinds available at pharmacies like CVS as well, but I prefer the ones you get in the adult stores. The only two brands I recommend are “Wet” and “ID Lube”. I.D. Lube bottles usually look like this. The one I use is on the left.

I.D. Lubricant

If you absolutely can't find the I.D. lubricant anywhere, then pick up a bottle of “Wet”. It looks like this:

Wet Lubricant

Whatever kind you buy, make sure that it's water based, not petroleum or silicone based. I made the mistake of using a petroleum based lube once, and it stayed in her vagina for 2 days. It was sticky, disgusting, and not pleasurable at all. The petroleum based lubes aren't even that slippery, and don't feel good during intercourse.

Plus, petroleum lubricants won't come off your penis in the shower, so you can count on going to work the next day with a little bit of residue from it if you make the mistake of using this crap. Water based lubes, on the other hand (no pun intended), will come right off when you jump in the shower or rinse off with some water in the sink.

Okay, so you've got your lube. Now you need a towel. Why? Because after intercourse, she's going to be soaking wet, and so are you (from the lubricant and her natural vaginal lubricant). You want to at least pat yourself dry (and her too) after you're done.

By the way, I don't care if your lady is the type who gets really wet... it's better to use lubricant for this technique. You don't have to use the lubricant for your penis if she's already soaking wet, but you do need it for the clitoral stimulation. I'm speaking from experience... just buy the lubricant.

Expect to spend around 30 bucks for a good-sized bottle, and a couple tiny travel-sized bottles. If you're short on cash, and just want to try it out, then pick up one of the tiny bottles.

This is what they look like:

I.D. Pleasure – 1.1 Ounce Bottle

Now that you know all about the kind of lubrication you need, let's move on to the next section, and learn how to actually perform this amazing technique.

Basic Positioning

Alright, you've got your lubricant and a towel. Make sure that the lube is somewhere close where you can easily reach it during intercourse. If you've got a little table next to your bed, that is great. If not, then just leave the bottle on the bed itself, and make sure you rest it on a towel, so you don't get the lube on your bed.

SPECIAL TIP: If you know your woman is coming over, and you're pretty sure that you'll be having sex, here's how you can prepare to make things go a little smoother. Take a hand towel, and wrap the bottle of lubricant in it, and place it under the bed. That way you don't have to "interrupt the action" by going to get it when the time is right.

You may have to add more lubricant as you go, and you don't want to have to stop the action in order to re-lubricate your fingers. Keep it near you the entire time.

Before you read the following description, check out image #1, so you have a visual reference to go by.

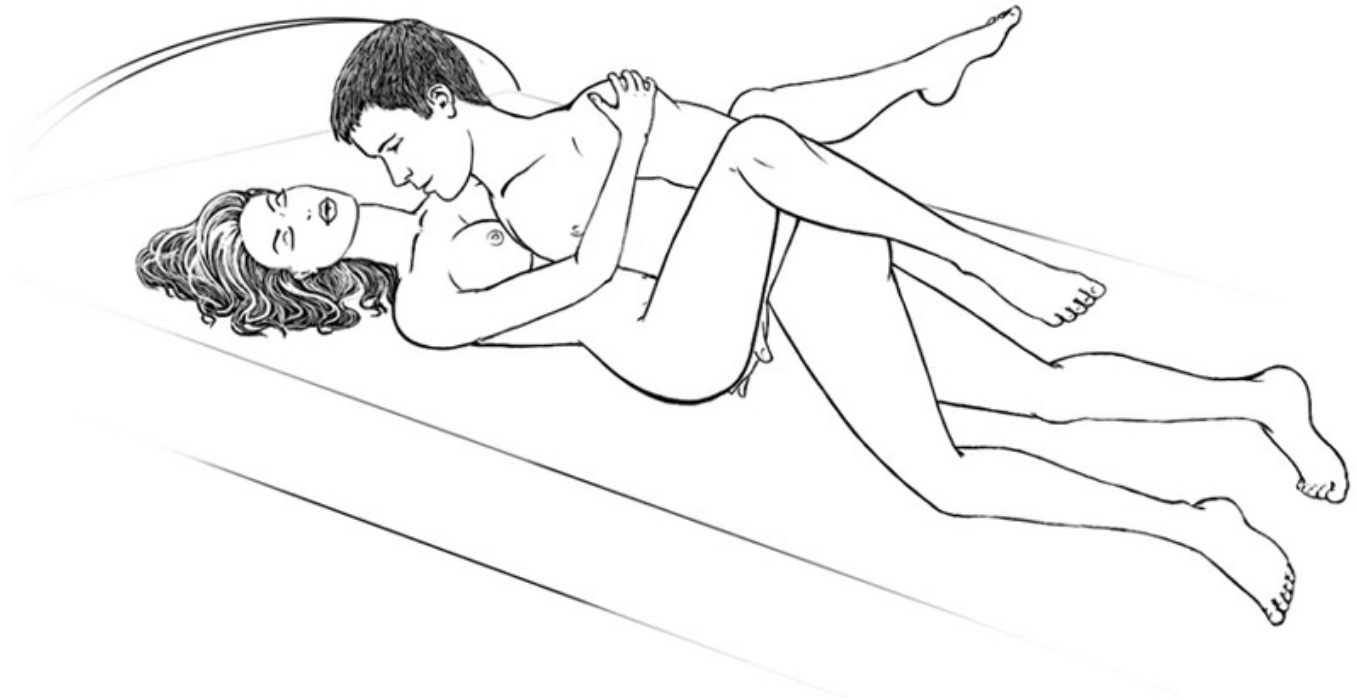

Image #1

This is the position that she must be in when you're on top of her. It's basically the standard missionary position (man on top), but it's important to have her legs up at a 90-degree angle to her body instead of just spread open and resting on the bed.

There are two reasons why her legs need to be up when you're performing this technique.

First, because you're going to reach your left arm in between her legs, and if they're not up in the air, they will get in the way and cause your wrist to cramp very quickly.

Second, since your fingers are going to be interacting with her vagina as well as your penis, you might not be able to go in as deep as you normally would. By putting her legs up in the air like this, you'll be able to go as deep in her as you possibly can, while still driving her crazy with your fingers. The dual stimulation feels absolutely incredible to her, and you'll feel incredible knowing that you're giving her a mind-blowing orgasm.

Back to the position...

Take your right hand and scoop up her left leg right around the where the knee bends, and then grab the sheet to anchor yourself in place. This will provide a nice little shelf for her left leg to rest on. If you're doing it correctly, the bottom of her thigh (just under the area behind the knee) should be resting on your bicep area. Don't worry if this sounds too technical right now. You'll appreciate the detail later, once you get the basic position down.

Take your left arm and put it in the same position for now, but don't grab the sheet. She's going to have to keep this leg up herself using her ab muscles... or she can grab her leg and hold it up manually with her right arm. Trust me, after 15-20 minutes of having sex in this position, she'll want to use that arm, since her stomach will probably be exhausted from keeping her leg up. You need to have your left hand free for this technique, so don't offer to hold her leg up for her, or you won't be able to stimulate her clitoris.

Performing The O.O.C. Technique

Okay, so now you're on top of her, and her legs are up on a 90-degree angle. Remember, you're just practicing this, so don't worry about doing it perfectly just yet. Now you're going to gently insert your penis, lean forward and lay down on top of her like you normally would, and begin having intercourse with her.

Remember, at this point, you're letting the bottoms of her thighs rest on the bicep area of your arms (right near the elbow crease). Let her get comfortable with this new position for a few minutes before doing anything else.

If she's never been in this position before, she might experience leg cramps after 5-10 minutes. That's perfectly okay, let her put her legs down on the bed

You can either continue having intercourse with her legs down on the bed (still feels really good for both of you), or you can stop having intercourse, and begin massaging the outside of her thighs. Remember, this isn't about making her bend herself into weird positions for you; it's about helping the two of you have better sex. Give her some time to adjust to this new position if that's what she needs.

Okay, so you're on top of her and you two are having intercourse. Here's where the left hand comes in. Stop what you're doing for a minute, and apply a little lubricant to your left index and middle fingers, and rub the lubricant around between those two fingers and your thumb. You need to do this for two reasons. First, you want to spread the lubricant evenly on your fingers, and second... sometimes the lubricant is cold, and that really does not feel good on her vagina.

You only need about a "nickel sized" amount of lubricant if you're just using it for her clitoris. What I suggest, however, is that you pull your penis out of her vagina all the way, and put about a "quarter sized" drop of lubricant on your fingers, and rub some on your penis and on the opening of her vagina. You'll notice the difference right away when you put your penis back in. It'll be extremely slippery and you'll wonder why you didn't discover this many years ago.

You're welcome 😊

Now It's Time To Make Some Magic Happen

Pay very close attention now, because this is the most important part. This is the part that makes the whole technique work. Before you read the description, refer to image #2, so you can get an idea of what I'm talking about.

Lie back down on top of her, and continue having intercourse. Bring those two fingers on your left hand around her butt, and down to her clitoris. Begin GENTLY stimulating her clitoris in a counter clockwise circular motion as you continue to thrust in and out with your penis.

Now... instead of just stimulating her vagina with your penis, you're also stimulating her clitoris (the most sensitive part of her vagina) at the same time. This is the dual stimulation that I talked about before, and the pleasure is completely overwhelming to most women.

Try to establish a rhythm. Every time you pump in and out, that should equal one complete circle with your fingers. I like to time it so that my finger rubs directly across her clitoris as I'm thrusting into her vagina with my penis.

If you both enjoyed some foreplay before you started having intercourse, and you've been having regular intercourse for at least a few minutes... there's a very high chance that she will orgasm within 5-10 minutes if you continue to use your fingers to stimulate her clitoris. Don't time it, though. Let her take as long as she needs to take.

Some women will orgasm almost right away. That's why I call this the Orgasm On Command Technique, because you are basically the one who can control when she orgasms by deciding when to begin using this move.

SIDENOTE: Knowing how to perform this technique is not an excuse for being a lousy lover. You should always spend some time on foreplay, intimacy, and regular intercourse before you begin stimulating her clitoris with this move.

Practice makes perfect. You might need to do this 50 times before you get it right, but once you get it, and you don't have to think about it anymore when you do it... you will be the master of a technique that not one man in ten thousand knows about.

You will have an ability that most men cannot honestly say they have. The ability to make any woman orgasm almost every single time they have sex with you.

Last Minute Tips

Here are some tips that will make this technique go a lot smoother for you.

1 - Her clitoris is usually not sensitive enough, and not ready to be pleased when you first start having intercourse. You need to give it a little time before you jump in and start using your fingers. She needs to be sufficiently turned on before clitoral stimulation will start to feel really pleasurable to her. Granted, it always feels good when someone touches her there, but for it to REALLY work at the level we're talking about... she has to be really turned on first.

2 – You only have to use one finger to stimulate her clitoris. I like to switch back and forth from the index finger to the middle finger, and then sometimes I will use both fingers. Do whatever feels the most comfortable to you.

3 – Your left hand and wrist WILL get sore after about 10 minutes of doing this. It's not a natural position for a guy, and believe me when I tell you that you have to build up some stamina in your wrist and get yourself used to being in this position.

4 – Yes, your left hand will hurt a little bit, but do NOT let her know that it hurts. The last thing you want is for her to feel guilty for you experiencing a little soreness after she just experienced the best orgasm of her life. If it hurts, just deal with it and keep it to yourself.

Trust me on this. You'll get used to it, and you'll find the exact positioning that works for you. Just keep practicing, and expect your hand to get a little sore at first. One of the main reasons that it gets sore is because her right leg (the leg that's above your left hand) isn't up at a 90-degree angle.

When she begins to have an orgasm, she might start to straighten her leg and bring it down. This is not deliberate, so stay calm. I repeat... she's not doing this on purpose, so just stay calm and relaxed. I made the mistake of getting mad about this once, and it totally ruined the mood.

It's just a reflex, and it means that you're doing a really good job at making her orgasm uncontrollably. Congratulations 😊

You can just gently remind her to keep her legs up. Just whisper in her ear, “Keep your legs up, baby”, and she will. Eventually she'll just keep them up on her own without you having to remind her. If she has a powerful orgasm, and forces her legs down involuntarily, don't fight it. Just keep thrusting and having intercourse, and do your best to stay on her clitoris with your fingers.

5 – Always use very light stimulation on her clitoris. She might want you to go a little harder later on during the sexual encounter, but always start out gentle.

6 – After she orgasms, there is a very high chance that she will want you to immediately stop touching her clitoris with your fingers. It's the same thing like when you have an orgasm, and the head of your penis suddenly becomes overly sensitive in an almost unpleasant way. If she motions or gestures for you to stop touching her clitoris, make sure you stop right away or you'll ruin the moment for her.

If your lady does not ask you to stop after she orgasms, you should ask her if her clitoris is getting too sensitive. She might be one of those women who can have multiple orgasms, and she'll want you to continue. You know your partner better than I do, but she will usually either respond by wanting you to stop immediately, or to continue, but more gently. Just ask her if you're not sure.

7 – Try to wait until after she cums before you start working on having an orgasm yourself. In order to be a skillful lover, you've got to learn how to control your own orgasm. I figured this out when I was 19 by experimenting. Here's what I learned to do. If I feel an orgasm coming on, and I don't want to have one yet, I just stop moving. I mean it... just stop thrusting in and out. Just freeze right where you are, and wait 60 seconds before starting up again.

If she asks you why you're stopping, just tell her that you don't want to cum yet, and you're just letting it “die down a little”. Use this time to kiss her, and tell her how sexy she is. Then, when you start again, you'll probably feel the orgasm coming back within 2-3 minutes. Just repeat what you did above. Just stop moving.

After stopping 3-5 times, your body will get the hint, and you'll be able to just keep having intercourse for hours without having an orgasm.

I actually became so good at this, that I started having the exact opposite problem. I began having a hard time actually having an orgasm myself. It's a bit of a pain in the ass, but you know what... it's a quality problem to have. Most guys can only last a few minutes. If you're the one guy who can take her all the way to orgasm without you needing to have one first, you will be seen as a superhero in the bedroom. Isn't that worth the effort?

8 – The basic position that I described is the best position for this technique, in my opinion, but you can also use the O.O.C Technique in other positions. For example, you can use it in “Doggie Style” position by simply reaching around her body and stimulating her clitoris from the front. It's definitely more difficult in doggie style, though, which is why I rarely do it.

You can also do this technique in the “woman on top” position. Just place your finger or fingers down by her clitoris (palm up) while she's riding you on top. Let her body do all the work. All you have to do is place your fingers in the right spot, and she'll stimulate her own clitoris by grinding into your fingertips. Remember to use lubricant here too. I told you this was fun 😊

9 – Everyone has their own preferences, but I'm going to suggest that for the first few times you do this... don't have any pillows under her head. They will actually get in the way of your face and head, and make it hard for you to breathe. Putting your face into a pillow while you're having intense sexual intercourse is not pleasant. You'll understand what I mean if you accidentally forget to remove the pillow one day. You'll be looking for a place to rest your head, and the pillow will actually be in the way, because your head will be face down.

What I like doing is having her keep her left arm UP above her head, and bent (like she's resting her head in the palm her hand). Then you can rest your head on her forearm. You'll understand when you try it. It's the most comfortable position in my experience.

10 – After you're done, always dry her off first, especially if you came inside her. Otherwise, it's going to come leaking out onto your bed, and that's not cool. It's probably going to be a wet mess between her thighs when you're all done. Remember she's got her own natural lubricant combined with the lubricant you used (and if you came inside her, you'll also have your semen to deal with as well). Make sure you take care of her by gently patting her dry.

11 – After you pat her dry with the towel, and wipe yourself off too... you might want to massage the outside of her upper thighs. This area will probably be exhausted from holding her legs up, especially if she's not used to this position. Even women that I did this technique with for over a year still had sore legs afterward... so expect it, and do something to take care of her after the two of you are done with the sexual experience. Let her see that you're not only a fantastic lover, but also a fantastic gentleman. It's little things like this that set you apart from all other men and put you in high demand with the ladies.

Some Final Words From Jason King

I just want to take a minute to thank you for reading this report. This really is the technique I use every single time I have sex, and believe me when I tell you... women love it.

It's not something that you'll master the first time you try it, but if you spend time practicing it now, your reward will be a lifetime of confidence that comes from knowing you can satisfy any woman in the bedroom. There are very few men who can honestly say that, and actually be able to back it up.

I hope you'll take the time to write me and tell me how this technique has improved your love life. I know that for me, I really enjoy knowing that no matter how experienced a woman is, that I have what it takes to please her in the bedroom. I'm no longer intimidated by any woman's sexual experience, because I know that I'm more than a match for her.

That's what I want for you too. If you ever want to reach me to tell me how it's going, brag about your success with this technique, or to ask me questions... here's my email:

Jason@ShesCravingYou.com

I'll be releasing other mini-reports like this in the near future, so make sure you open up and read the emails that I send you. Thanks again for reading. Now get out there, pick up a bottle of lubricant from Lubery.com (or head to the local adult store), and practice this technique over and over again. The women in your life will be very glad you did 😊

Warmly,
Jason King
